DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-6 and 11-17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1,5,6 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hofstetter et al (PN 6,136,623) in view of Kadah (PN 5,699,218) and Hatakoshi et al (PN 6,400,742).

Regarding claims 1,5,6 and 17,

Hofstetter et al illustrates in figure 6 a ridge type multiple wavelength laser array (100) and (200) by flip-chip bonding, where the lasers face each other and laser system (200) comprises gallium nitride (GaN), as described in column 6 lines 18-66. In column 10 describes the operation of the lasers as alternating between wavelengths.

Hofstetter et al is silent as to the laser system having an anti-parallel interconnection, as implied by claim 1.

Kadah illustrates in figure 5 a solid-state relay system having in particular a bi-directional light emitting device (LED) (32) with a pair of LEDs oppositely electrically connected or having an anti-parallel interconnection with each other, where one of the

Art Unit: 2828

LED illuminates with forward current and the other LED illuminates with reverse current.

LEDs are commonly known in the art to be composed of semiconductor material.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to interconnect the laser system of Hofstetter et al in an anti-parallel interconnection as disclosed by Kadah because it would allow the laser system to alternate between wavelengths.

Regarding claim 5,

Hofstetter et al does not disclose the laser system as having a Schottky barrier.

However, the use of Schottky barriers between the laser and the electrode is well-known in the art as illustrates in figure 17 of Hatakoshi et al, which shows a ridge type semiconductor laser composed of gallium nitride (GaN) in column 20 lines 57-61 disclosed the use of a Schottky barrier between the electrode and the laser.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-4 and 11-16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Regarding claim 2,

None of the cited prior arts alone or combination disclose the interconnection of the semiconductor lasers, where the claimed lasers are provided with a first connecting layer between the p-electrode of the first laser and the n-electrode of the second laser and a second connecting layer between the p-electrode of the second laser and the n-electrode of the first laser.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
